Welcome to the Restaurant

Schnookeloch in the heart of Heidelberg's Old City

„Mindest ämol in der Woch, muss der Mensch ins Schnookeloch!“

The historic restaurant is known for it's atmospheric evenings, often accompanied by piano music, to which one may freely sing along. Take part in traditional student life, whose customs are actively cherished here. Our „Eichendorff-Stube“ pays tribute to the romantic poet Joseph Freiherr von Eichendorff, along with other famous persons, such as Romy and Magda Schneider, who each enjoyed their wine here. To this effect one finds numerous dedications in thanks for the warm hospitality. In the Summer our „Biergarten“, overgrown with wild ivy, caters up to 60 guests.

Nobody knows anymore what exactly the word „Schnookeloch“ means. There are however the following explanations. In the Palatinate vernacular „Schnooke“ means like „jokes“ or „fun“.

In a different sense „Schnooke“ indicates a „mosquito“, a „Schnake“. Now before Neckar control there were many wetlands here and the buzzing pests had a somewhat ideal living space. This explanation then seems to be the most fitting.

„Schnookeloch“ is the only still authentic restaurant of the Heidelberg fraternities. The photographs, signs, flags and carvings – of old and of new – are not decorations, but rather symbols of a lively culture.

Our kitchen is known for it's regional and varied specialties, all prepared with fresh ingredients, as well as for our changing menu of the day, offered at an affordable price.

Enjoy your time in the oldest student eatery of Heidelberg!
